NANCY HERN, PRE-SALES SUPPORT MANAGER OF PROJETECH, INC. ACHIEVES MAXIMO ITSM CERTIFICATION

Cincinnati, OH, June 17, 2007 - Nancy Hern was chosen by IBM to take part in the first IBM Information Technology Service Management (ITSM) Consultant examination. She successfully passed the exam and is now Maximo ITSM Certified. Hern is a Pre-sales Support Manager for Projotech, Inc, an IBM Business Partner, that sells IBM Maximo licenses, and provides IBM AITP certified training courses.

"Nancy's certification proves the high level of excellence in our team of Maximo experts," says President and Owner of Projotech, Steve Richmond, "Our instructors have done a fantastic job excelling at Maximo EAM, now we are gaining additional knowledge in Maximo ITSM."

In order to qualify as a Maximo ITSM Certified Consultant, individual candidates must pass a rigorous computer-based exam specific to the Maximo application release. Maximo certification provides an impartial measurement of a consultant's knowledge and helps ensure the overall success of a Maximo implementation.

According to IBM, this new exam defines the important professional skills and knowledge that an application consultant needs to demonstrate proficiency in Maximo 6 ITSM. The exam also tests this knowledge in the context of a consultant's major activities and responsibilities to successfully implement a Maximo 6 ITSM solution.

This certification signifies that Hern has proven she is up to IBM standards of excellence in the Maximo 6 ITSM software. Hern has been an employee of Projotech for over 5 years.
