

Maximo® Training and Coaching

Maximize your Maximo Investment

Projotech's Maximo® training and coaching courses cover relevant, current topics that you need to keep your operations running smoothly.

Why Projotech?

Projotech, an Advanced IBM Business partner, has been enabling Maintenance and Reliability Professionals throughout North America since 1990. Our focus is solely centered on Maximo software. Projotech's Instructors are all IBM certified and have had years of hands-on Maximo experience in versions 4 through 7.

IBM recently chose Projotech as the first IBM Authorized Independent Training Provider (AITP) for Maximo. This means that Projotech now teaches IBM Certified Classes using IBM Certified materials.

Projotech provides flexible training to fit your schedule and our classes can be specifically tailored to your needs. Our team of experts can customize the material to be of benefit to you as you perform your job and day-to-day tasks.

Projotech holds training, coaching, and workshop sessions at our Cincinnati location, and also at your workplace on request. For sessions at your organization, we require a stable version of Maximo to be available for all students. If that is not readily available, Projotech trainers can supply laptops for an additional fee.

The format of the sessions are as follows:

- Training Classes - classroom training environment
- Coaching Sessions - informal one-on one session using tailored syllabus. Facilitates dynamic interaction with the instructor.

"Our training from Projotech continues to be a huge success at my facility."

*-Harold Faulkner
Maintenance Coordinator
Coca-Cola, North America*

Call a Projotech sales representative today at 800.611.2884 or learn about more services we offer at www.projotech.com.

IBM Certified Classes can be taught at your facility (top) or at our Cincinnati location (bottom), or even an offsite location.

Maximo Online Classes

For our students who prefer not to travel, cannot make the training classes, or need other training hours, Projotech developed two flexible solutions!

Instructor-Led Online Classes - Class that would have a dedicated start and finish time and is fully interactive where the students have access to the instructor and course presentation via the Internet.

Computer-Based Training Classes - Students can participate in these courses at their convenience. This type of training program does not include access to a live instructor. Any questions the student may have must be submitted via email.

Projotech can also develop custom CBT classes tailored to meet the business needs of your organization in regards to use of Maximo using your data in the demo!

