Projotech Inc. to Showcase its Industry-Leading Asset Management Solutions during Reliability World 2006

CINCINNATI, OHIO, April 17, 2006 – Projotech Inc. - a certified Maximo® reseller and leading service provider of strategic asset and service management solutions, will showcase its time- and money-saving solutions during the Reliability World 2006 Conference, to be held in conjunction with Lubrication Excellence 2006 and Lean Manufacturing 2006, at the Columbus Convention Center on May 16-18. Projotech will give away free exhibit passes to anyone who is interested in touring the exhibit hall!

“We look forward to meeting people at Reliability World who can benefit from our expertise,” said Projotech Marketing Manager Debbie Herbers. “Events like this are a great way to interact with professionals who want to make their asset management more efficient, thorough, and cost-effective.”

Projotech, based in Cincinnati with locations in Pittsburgh and Toledo, specializes in helping companies of all sizes to efficiently manage their facilities, equipment, transportation fleets, maintenance personnel, and IT assets using Maximo.

Visitors to Projotech’s booth (no. 844) will see free demonstrations of Maximo, a powerful tool in managing complex assets, and learn how it can work for them. They’ll also play a scratch-off game called Projotech-Tac-Toe to win prizes.

Reliability World 2006 is taking place with Lubrication Excellence and Lean Manufacturing 2006, all in the same location, to allow technicians, analysts, engineers, and other professionals to identify the range of opportunities to keep their businesses effective. Reliability World 2006 is dedicated to presenting ideas to improve uptime, save money, and give companies a performance advantage.

During the exhibition, maintenance and reliability professionals will also have an opportunity to learn more about Projotech's proprietary eMaintenance[®] web-based service and its Maximo training and consulting support. As an authorized reseller of Maximo[®] Enterprise Suite, (MXES) Projotech provides Level 1 support to customers seeking to increase business performance through improved asset and service management.

"Our goal is to help maintenance and reliability professionals improve efficiency by training them how to maximize the use of all the tools Maximo offers," said Herbers.

Anyone interested in the free exhibit-only passes should contact Herbers at (513) 481-4900.
