PROJETECH INC. EXHIBITS AT WINDPOWER 2009 CONFERENCE IN CHICAGO

Cincinnati, OH, April 17, 2009 – Maintenance and reliability professionals in the Wind Industry attending WINDPOWER 2009 hosted by the American Wind Energy Association in Chicago, Illinois at the McCormick Center on May 4-7, 2009 will have an opportunity to interact with Projetech Inc. - a provider of IBM Maximo® services, certified Maximo software reseller, IBM Advanced Business Partner, and the first IBM Maximo Authorized Independent Training Provider. Maintenance and reliability professionals will also have an opportunity to learn more about Projetech's Software as a Service (SaaS), eMaintenance® that has screens customized for the Wind Industry.

Projetech specializes in helping companies of all sizes control costs, manage inventory and purchasing, and improve efficiency through effective management of facilities, equipment, transportation fleets, maintenance personnel and IT assets. In the Wind Industry, Projetech has gained much experience with over 30 sites and more than 1,000 turbines covered by eMaintenance. Since 2008 Projetech has been a member of the American Wind Energy Association (AWEA) and also a member of the Great Lakes WIND Network.

“This conference will be an important one for Projetech,” says Projetech Marketing Associate Jeanne Cost. “Not only are we going to be demonstrating Mobile Work Manager live at the show, but we will also be showing professionals in the Wind Industry a demo of Maximo, a CMMS software with customized Wind-specific screens. We encourage Wind Maintenance professionals to visit our booth (5314) and ask our Maximo experts questions about custom Wind solutions, Maximo services, implementations, upgrades, or our IBM Certified training options.”
